

State Education Accountability Reports and Indicator Reports: Status of Reports across the States—2002

Results of a 50-State Survey by the
CCSSO Division of State Services and Technical Assistance

The Council of Chief State School Officers (CCSSO) is a nationwide non-profit organization comprised of the public officials who head the departments of elementary and secondary education in the states, the District of Columbia, five U.S. extra state jurisdictions, and the Department of Defense Education Activity. CCSSO provides leadership, advocacy, and technical assistance services to its members to fulfill the organization's vision that all school systems will ensure high standards of performance for every student and that each child is prepared to succeed as a productive member of a democratic society.

The Council, established in 1927, represents the chief state school officer's view on federal education policy. The organization undertakes projects to help state agencies understand, devise, and execute policy, adopt initiatives to promote educational reform efforts, and engage in collaborative exchanges to share best practices and model solutions. These endeavors result in the development of many resources, which are widely disseminated to CCSSO's state constituencies, other partner organizations, the education community, related federal agencies, and the U.S. Congress. The Council's work is supported by membership dues, the foundation community, and government agencies.

The Division of State Services and Technical Assistance supports state education agencies in developing standards-based systems that enable all children to succeed. Initiatives of the division support improved methods for collecting, analyzing and using information for decision-making; development of assessment resources; creation of high-quality preparation and development programs; emphasis on instruction suited for diverse learners; and the removal of barriers to academic success. The division combines existing activities in the former Resource Center on Educational Equity; State Education Assessment Center, and State Leadership Center.

State Education Accountability Reports and Indicator Reports: Status of Reports across the States—2002

Educators, policymakers, researchers, and the public have expressed a need for a periodic summary of state reports that provide statistics and information on the condition of education in our elementary and secondary schools. During the past decade, states have taken a more active role in regularly reporting indicators of the status of public education, including results of student assessments, data on students and teachers, and school finance data.

The Council of Chief State School Officers worked with state departments of education to compile a summary document on the current status of state education accountability and state education indicator reports. The summary of reports was designed to provide state-by-state information on the types of reports published annually by states, when they are produced, and the levels at which statistics are reported. A contact person is identified for each state report and a web site is listed whenever possible to facilitate easy access to these documents.

The CCSSO State Education Assessment Center staff conducted its first complete survey of all state education reports in 1994. For the 2002 edition, state education staff were asked to identify and update all current state reports that function to provide accountability, and/or educational indicator, information for K–12 education. All the reports listed on the following pages are produced and published by states, or published under a state mandate.

As of May 2002:

Following the state-by-state information on current reports on pages 2-9, CCSSO provides an Appendix that indicates the “Methods of Reporting Student Achievement Results” used in the state reports.

The report is available on the Internet (www.ccsso.org). Additional hard copies of this summary are available for $7.00 per copy (includes shipping and handling). Please send a check or purchase order to the following address:
