

Agenda for No Child Left Behind Meetings

Monday April 14, 2003

Governor Granholm will announce an unprecedented “No Child Left Behind Partnership” that will – for the first time – bring state government, local schools districts, intermediate school districts, private businesses, the faith community, social service organizations, teacher unions and the foundation community together in a proactive, organized way to help low-performing schools achieve educational progress goals.

Members of the partnership will focus their resources and support on assisting “high priority” that take specific, rigorous actions to immediately begin turning their schools around.
